MORNING TELEGRAMS.

Serious Danger of the Strike Spreading. EMPEROR WILLIAM, OF GERMANY, DYING.

A Terrible Fire in A Newspaper Office Causes Many Deaths---Compositors on the Fifth Floor and no Means of Egress.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., March 7.-The Daily Union newspaper office burned this afternoon. It is known that sixteen or eighteen people have been burned to death or killed. The fire which is still raging threatens to be a big one. The flames in the Union office spread so rapidly that only a few people of those in the upper stories escaped. Mrs. Farley, society editor, was instantly killed by jumping from an upper window. The composing room was on the fifth floor and the inmates were shut out from any means of escape. A dozen men ran to the windows and hung suspended by their hands until their strength gave way, when they dropped to the sidewalk and were either killed or fatally injured. There were forty persons in the editorial room, and twenty are missing, but it is hoped they escaped.

Struggle for Business. SAN FRANCISCO, March 7.-The managers of the Pacific Coast Steamship line admit that the opening of the California & Oregon road has made serious inroads in their passenger business. They say, however, that the railroad is getting very little of the freight traffic. The new railroad freight tariff for through business between this city and Portland will soon be issued with the intention of turning as much freight as possible to the overland route. This is expected to make the competition for this business very warm. The steamship line managers say they are sure to have the best of the fight, as they can make lower rates than the railroad can afford to haul freight for. They say that although in the course of time their passenger business may be reduced to a considerable extent, they will always be able to control the freight traffic.

Speckels' Laudable Ambition. NEW YORK, March 7.-Claus Speckels in an interview to-day regarding the proposed refinery said: "This is no bluff. In my old age I have but one ambition. I wish to give employment to enough workmen to keep the $50,000,000 or so that is annually spent abroad for sugar, in this country. I have not entered into this for gain solely. When I decide on a location, which will be in a few weeks at the most, I shall put a large force at work and shall begin refining sugar within a year of this time in this vicinity. Then we shall see whether the trust can ruin me. In a few years there will be from ten to fifteen beet sugar factories in operation on the Pacific Coast. But before that time I shall be turning out 8000 pounds of sugar daily from my refinery in the East."

More of the Strike. MINNEAPOLIS, March 7.-The strike of engineers on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy road has extended to the Burlington & Northern. All Brotherhood engineers and firemen left their engines at 10 o'clock this morning. The effect has not yet been observed, because the road does not send out passenger trains till 4:15 p. m. At that time the officials claim the express will start as usual, while the Brotherhood claim that the road will not be able to move a wheel. The strike affects about one hundred men.

The Emperor Critical. BERLIN, Mar. 7.-The emperor of Germany is dying, Prince Bismarck, who had returned to the palace, has just left again to convene a meeting of the ministers. Grand Duchess of Baden, the emperor's daughter, and her husband, and the Crown Princess of Sweden, the emperor's granddaughter, have been telegraphed for and will arrive in the morning.
